METHOD

The analysis combines clean data preparation with business-focused SQL

Clean

Clean missing review ratings with category-level median imputation.

Standardize

Standardize fields, create age groups, and derive purchase-frequency days.

Analyze

Remove the redundant promo-code field and load the cleaned dataset into PostgreSQL for analysis.

REVENUE MIX

Clothing leads revenue, while young adults contribute the most by age group

Clothing is the largest revenue category; Young Adult is the largest age-group contributor.

Revenue by category

Revenue by age group

SUBSCRIPTION

Subscription is underpenetrated and not yet lifting average spend

27%

of customers subscribe, versus 73% who do not.

Average spend is effectively flat across groups; the proposition needs stronger perceived value before acquisition spend is scaled.

| Status | Customers | Average spend USD |
|---|---|---|
| Yes | 1,053 | $59.49 |
| No | 2,847 | $59.87 |

DISCOUNT ECONOMICS

Discounts attract high-value orders, but some products may be margin-dependent

839

customers used discounts while spending above the average purchase amount.

Separate discounts that create incremental demand from discounts that simply subsidize existing demand.

Product winners combine strong ratings with clear category leadership

Top-rated products: Gloves 3.86 · Sandals 3.84 · Boots 3.82 · Hat 3.80 · Skirt 3.78

Top sellers by category: Jewelry leads Accessories; Blouse and Pants lead Clothing; Sandals lead Footwear; Jacket leads Outerwear.

Activation: Pair high ratings with best-seller placement to improve campaign credibility and conversion.

FROM INSIGHT TO ACTION

Five moves can turn strong repeat behavior into higher customer value

1. Boost subscriptions: Strengthen exclusive benefits and target repeat buyers first.
2. Build loyalty: Reward returning customers and accelerate movement into the loyal segment.
3. Review discount policy: Monitor margin by product and distinguish incremental from subsidized demand.
4. Position product winners: Feature top-rated and best-selling items in campaigns.
5. Target high-value cohorts: Prioritize young adults, repeat buyers, and express-shipping users.
